Model / code of the new product: Next Generation Series Stress Free

Description of new product :

Stress Free Marine has been at the forefront of anchoring for over 10 years and this year will be back at the Sydney Boat Show to showcase the Next Generation (NG) Series Stress Free - an electric drum style anchor winch with freefall capabilities. These models are superfast and designed to take the guesswork out of anchoring. Get right on the mark every time, no more overruns - the NG Series is designed to make anchoring a breeze.

Unique Features / other information :

Has the freefall mechanism engineered into the winch, the drum will automatically stop once the anchor has hit the bottom, has power up/power down options as well. The winch is a fast, stylish, strong anchor winch with the latest of metal finishing and Next Generation features.
